

Start a Chapter | National Healthcare & Leadership Consortium

Bring the mission of the National Healthcare & Leadership Consortium to your own community by launching a local chapter. Our network of chapters is driven by passionate professionals who are committed to advancing health equity, innovation, and inclusive leadership in their regions. Starting a chapter is a meaningful way to foster local impact while staying connected to a national movement.

Step 1: Submit a Chapter Interest Form

Complete the Chapter Interest Form to let us know where you're located and why you're interested in starting a chapter. This helps us keep track of regional activity and provide you with essential materials.

Step 2: Review the Chapter Starter Toolkit

Once your form is submitted, you'll receive a digital toolkit that includes chapter guidelines, branding assets, programming ideas, and promotional templates to help you get started quickly and confidently.

Step 3: Build Your Leadership Team

Identify 2-4 like-minded professionals who are committed to supporting the chapter's mission. This core team will help plan programming, grow membership, and represent the chapter locally.

Step 4: Outline Your Chapter Vision

Create a simple launch plan that outlines your focus areas, first-year goals, and the types of activities or events you'd like to host. You're free to tailor your chapter to meet local healthcare challenges while staying aligned with the Consortium's mission.

Step 5: Sign the Chapter Agreement

Submit your finalized plan and sign the Chapter Agreement, which outlines basic expectations and how your chapter can operate independently while staying connected to the Consortium brand and standards.

Step 6: Launch Your Chapter

Announce your chapter, host your first meeting or event, and begin engaging healthcare leaders in your region. You'll have the flexibility to lead your chapter in a way that best suits your community's needs, with light-touch support from our national team when needed.
